

Priority Model Manual Evaluation Report

Generated: 2026-08-17 05:38 UTC

Scope: 600 manually authored telecom complaint inputs evaluated through priority1.process_complaint().

Executive result

Expected-vs-actual matches: 379/600 (63.17%). Each case was sent to the current priority implementation; no expected label was substituted for the actual model output.

Metric	Result
Total cases	600
Matches	379
Mismatches	221
Accuracy	63.17%
Expected distribution	{'P1': 150, 'P2': 150, 'P3': 150, 'P4': 150}
Actual distribution	{'P1': 139, 'P2': 205, 'P3': 255, 'P4': 1}

Expected-label method

Expected labels were assigned before execution from the complaint wording and the intended priority policy: P1 critical/emergency or broad service failure, P2 high-impact outage or security issue, P3 usable but impaired service, and P4 informational or low-impact requests. The expected label is a manual benchmark, not a second model.

The implementation combines urgency and severity, applies its configured score thresholds, and then applies label-based priority overrides. The actual output and model reason are retained for every case in the appendix.

Confusion matrix

Expected \ Actual	P1	P2	P3	P4
P1	121	29	0	0
P2	18	131	1	0
P3	0	24	126	0
P4	0	21	128	1

600-case detailed results

Each row contains the original generated input, the manual expected label, the actual priority returned by the code, model labels, combined score, and the model's explanation.
